Dear compatriots, sixteen years will have passed this coming October 23 since the signing of the "Paris Peace Agreement". We, Cambodians, even though living elsewhere, remain deeply attached to and care for our motherland. "The Paris Peace Agreement" of October 23, 1991 was an historical event and a date to be remembered. This agreement's aim was: to provide and protect Cambodian independence; territorial sovereignty and integrity; non-interference from foreign countries and its neighbors; and to restore freedom and human rights to Cambodia. After sixteen years of the Agreement being in place, Cambodia is still subjected to continued territorial violations and encroachments by its neighbors, and its citizens still suffer endless violations of their rights.

The conference will offer attendees the chance to share the relevance and importance of the "Paris Peace Agreement" – its terms, conditions, provisions, and the true, present outcome of that accord, from Americans and Cambodians who are knowledgeable speakers and researchers. We will have panel discussions and question and answer sessions. The conference will try to provide specific recommendations for solutions and remedies to the shortcomings of its implementation.

Together We Stand and Can Make a Difference! So please join us in the Conference.
